HOLME'S HISTORICAL MISSION PLAY IS BOOKED FOR NEXT JULY

READERS of the Pine Cone will be interested in the Mission Play which is to be written and staged by Garnet Holme on our Forest Theater stage during the latter part of July. It is peculiarly appropriate to this community, as it is written around the life and death of Junipero Serra whose activities founded the Carmel Mission. The play is divided into four episodes.

Act I—Mission of San Fernando in Mexico City.

The play opens with the farewell of the Padre to his friends at the College of San Fernando. He sets forth on foot for Alta California, sometimes called the "Northern Mystery." In the first act we see Father Serra in the midst of civilization and Spanish glory; in the remainder of the play he is moving amidst the rough pioneer buildings deprived of every luxury.

Act II—Carmel, 1784.

Here is depicted the struggles of Serra. He is going through poverty and hardship, and is handicapped by a shortage of help, and is distressed that the confirmation power bestowed upon him by the Church is at an end.

Act III—Monterey.

Governor Fages has prepared a great reception for his wife, the Lady Donna Eulalia; and her son, Pedrito. It is the day of the fiesta. Eulalia has brought wonderful clothes from Mexico, which delight the Indians, who in their turn horrify the high-born Spanish woman by their lack of apparel.

Act IV—Mission grounds in Carmel

Father Serra passes away clad in monk habit and holding in his hands the cross he had borne so far.

Epilogue—Serra is buried with all the dignity and ceremony possible in so distant an outpost of civilization. There are soldiers and sailors from Monterey. The bells are tolled, while throughout the day the cannon of the ships at anchor in the bay answer the guns at the Presidio.

Mr. Holme has been working on this play for some time. He has spared no pains or expense in obtaining an accurate background. With an absolutely historical atmosphere to begin with, his experience in producing, and his knowledge of stage technique, the result should justify the people of Carmel in giving every assistance. It will undoubtedly be a great play, produced in a great way.

New Business Structure to House Dry Goods Store

Robert G. Leidig is erecting a building on the southeast corner of Ocean avenue and Dolores street for Miss Stella Guichard, proprietor of L'Accommodation, who expects to occupy it by the middle of April. Her business has outgrown the present quarters and she hopes to give the public better service in the new building. It is to be a mission style structure. M. J. Murphy is the builder.

EPHEMERAL FOG AGAIN DISSIPATED BY FORCE OF COLD LOGIC

THE PINE CONE believes in fair play. Its columns are open for a thorough airing of both sides of any public measure. Opinions are solicited from all its readers on all questions relating to the public good.

Last week our opponents took a crack at fog-lifting—this week the proponents are at the bat:

Permanency of Proposed Fire-fighting Apparatus: If a booster pump with a motor-driven auxiliary is ephemeral, why does Atlanta, Georgia, have fourteen of them? Why has San Jose used one for thirteen years, with the prospect of using it for thirteen more? Why does Santa Barbara consider it the "one best bet" in case of a serious fire? In all towns where this booster pump is used it is the first piece of apparatus to respond to calls. It is the best all-round, one-piece apparatus that has been devised. Would it stand to reason that Freeport, Illinois, Boston, Wilmington, Del., Portland, Oregon, Chicago—and hundreds of other cities of all classes—would purchase ephemeral fire-fighting apparatus? Let us have authorities from the opponents of the bond measure on the ephemeral-quality of the proposed fire apparatus.

Safeguarding the Future: Anyway, can we longer take chances on being wiped out over night? Can we afford to neglect getting additional protection for so serious a menace as fire to such a peculiar situation as ours? Last summer and fall all Carmel held its breath until the rains came. A chance cigarette stub, a chance match, a chance spark from a chimney, and then a chance breeze, and devastation of property with probably much loss of life might follow. Let's lock the door before—not after—the horse is stolen.

Plenty of Water: There is no lack of water in our hydrants; we do lack pressure—but—the proposed booster pump gives that. It furnishes up to 125 pounds pressure per square inch and is guaranteed to deliver from 250 to 400 gallons of water per minute. The fire boys now in going to a fire don't know which to take in the way of equipment—axes, shovels or buckets. When we get in our new apparatus everything belonging to it goes to every fire. Every piece of apparatus necessary to fighting a fire of small or large proportions is right at hand. This is something more than a water engine. It combines hose, ladders, axes, four hand-extinguishers, large chemical and booster pump with motor-driven auxiliary.

Money Thrown Away: The $360 a year rental of our city hall, mentioned last week is not the only outlay which the city should save. How about the $360-a-year hydrant rental which we are paying and must continue to pay, and which is without any practical value, because without a machine to furnish the pressure the water cannot be sent more than a few feet. This $360 is dead money without a pump.

Present Quarters Are Inadequate The building where our city fathers meet—where our bonded city officials are located—where our city records are exposed—is entirely inadequate to our present necessities. There is no water connection, no sewer, no lavatories, no toilets, no nothing. The building seats just twelve citizens aside from the trustees, and that not comfortably.

The town's sanitary officer would be well within his legal limits in closing the premises until the laws of the state and the rules of decency are complied with.

Is It Good Business for a town that has one of the lowest tax rates in the country to house itself in such a manner? Would any citizen of Carmel live in such a fashion, especially if he were able to afford ordinary comforts, to say nothing of gratifying to some extent his taste for the beautiful? How much more necessary for a community, especially one that constantly aims to emphasize the beautiful, the fitting, the appropriate—even the artistic—to set the example of commodious, well-built, well-proportioned buildings, that all prospective builders may have an object lesson before them.

"CAESAR AND CLEOPATRA" TO OPEN SEASON AT FOREST THEATER

GEORGE BERNARD SHAW'S famous "Caesar and Cleopatra" has been chosen by the play committee and the board of directors of the Forest Theater as the initial production of the coming summer season. The dates have not been finally determined, but it is understood that the custom will be followed of giving the principal play of the organization during the Fourth of July week end. Garnet Holme will follow late in July with a Serra production with a professional cast—as far as the principals are concerned, to be succeeded in August by the Cator Newberry opera. Whether the Forest Theatre association itself will produce a second play later in August will depend on conditions.

The annual original play competition, ending February 1st, brought forth a large number of plays, none of which, in the judgment of the play committee, were suitable for production by the Forest Theater. Manuscripts were received from every part of the country and even from South Africa, indicating a widespread interest in the Carmel Forest Theatre.

"Caesar and Cleopatra," one of the most brilliant of the Shaw dramas, and certainly the one offering the greatest opportunity for magnificent stage groupings, runs the entire gamut of dramatic possibilities, ranging from the most delicious comedy to deep tragedy and back again. It contains more than a score of speaking parts of interest and importance, with numerous picturesque "bits" and brilliant group effects. Opportunity for splendid pageantry and stage picturizations are limited only by the slender purse of the Forest Theatre organization and the degree of co-operation by way of the expenditure of time and effort forthcoming from the community at large.

After months of deliberation on the question of selecting a producer for the July play, and after weighing carefully the conflicting counsel of various local authorities called into consultation, the play committee, with the approval of the board of directors, decided to adhere strictly to the original by-laws of the corporation, which provide that it shall be the "declared policy" of the organization to use, "so far as possible," only bona fide residents of Carmel as producers and actors in the productions of the organization.

"Caesar and Cleopatra" will offer an innovation in that it will be produced by the Forest Theatre as such, operating through an all Carmel staff selected at the very beginning of the season. This staff will be organized, and its work systematized, in a general way according to the best practice of professional non-traveling stock companies. There will be a responsible head for each of the several departments, the whole functioning under the guidance and supervision of the stage direction. In regard to the latter department, the exigencies of the local situation have dictated a method of selection which, for this season at least, bids fair to avoid the pitfalls

STAGNATION IS DEATH

IMPROVEMENT of any nature always costs something—time, material or money. It may be a new roof, a coat of paint, a new rose-bush. No consideration should be given the argument of those who are opposing the proposed Carmel bond issue for a city hall and fire-fighting apparatus because the improvements will cost something.

It is a peculiar sort of civic pride that recognizes these needs, but refuses to adopt them because it will add a few cents to tax bills.

We bond our officials to protect the city's property and then bundle them into one room and expect them to do justice to themselves and to the people they serve.

We invite people to come here to make and build their homes, and the objectors would refuse to give these new homes adequate fire protection.

A town cannot stand still. It goes forward or backward. Just because the proposed improvements are going to cost something the anti-bondites would have Carmel go back.

It requires a two-thirds vote to carry the bond proposition. Register today and vote "Yes" on April 10.

OYER'S HAT IN THE RING

Now comes "Bill" Oyer with the announcement that he's going to run for sheriff. Says the Salinas Journal:

"Oyer's announcement is no surprise, as it has been generally understood that since he accepted a deputyship in the office that he would be a candidate for sheriff at this year's election. According to his formal announcement he has had this understanding with the incumbent, and it was based upon the latter's assurance that he would not seek another term."

"IT PAYS TO ADVERTISE"

When Is a Joke Not a Joke?—When It Is Taken Too Seriously

(C. M. Jackson in S. F. Bulletin)

"And in that day seven women shall take hold of one man, saying: 'We will eat our own bread and wear our own apparel; only let us be called by thy name, to take away our reproach.'"

So prophesied Isaiah.

Down at Carmel-by-the-Sea and in Carmel-back-from-the-water's-edge there is a scarcity of men and a wail is going up from the female element in consequence. True, the prognostication of Isaiah isn't fulfilled in its entirety, for the ratio of seven to one has not yet been reached, but the shortage of males is acute.

A GREAT VARIETY

The writer this week received a letter directing attention to this state of affairs from a woman who relates as follows:

"There are so many single women here that if a number of male eligibles could be encouraged by hook or crook to come here conditions would be improved to a marked degree. We have all sorts, from the young and budding debutante to the grass widow, interspersed with bachelor women of all ages ranging from the newly matured female of the early twenties to the one on the border line that marks the distinction between the still-to-be-desired and the 'old maid'. The most of these single ones would make good wives and companions and the majority own their little cozy cottages and homes, so that about all a man would have to do would be to come in and hang up his hat and sit right down to supper.

NO ARTISTS NEED APPLY.

"But for mercy's sake do not send any more literary men or artists of any sort. We have writers here by scores and one cannot take a walk anywhere from the pine-embroidered hills to the shore where the waves sob and sniffle without tripping over some long-haired being sitting on a camp stool daubing up perfectly good canvas with impossible colors of sunrises, sunsets, marine views, cypress trees and 'Returning Fisher Folk.' What we want are real men; men with red blood and energy, not writers of mushy stories, singers of flabby songs or painters of cubist pictures.

"Of course we appreciate art, music, literature and poetry and all that sort of thing, but Carmel needs more overalls filled with men of muscle and more hats covering real brains. Help us, can you, for if assistance is not given soon we will either have to abandon the place or go insane."

The San Francisco Bulletin is evidently getting short of copy, so the time-honored so-called Carmel freaks are once more dug from the emergency drawer. In fact, much of it is probably plate matter by this time. As a result the Pine Cone and the local postoffice have been fairly deluged with letters, giving the names and life histories of applicants for happy homes, and frankly stating their preferences in small details, such as ages, complexions, habits and finaacial ratings of the ladies of Carmel who wish husbands.

We all like to joke the other fellow and it looks as if we'll have to take one ourselves. It's kind of hard not to get really "peeved" at such silly notoriety, but it's up to us to be good sports and laugh with C. M. Jackson of the Bulletin, whoever he (or she) may be.

We give below one of the many letters received:

Palo Alto, Cal.

EPHEMERAL FOG AGAIN DISSIPATED BY FORCE OF COLD LOGIC

Unused Property: We have our block, acquired along with the sand dunes. What are we going to do with it? If we park it all, the expense of its upkeep will be greater than the proportionate expense of the block with a building on it. We need the lot all right, but for no reason so logical as a place for our municipal building. For public parks we have our forests and our beaches.

Housing Uncertainties for the Future: Although it is lacking in accommodations, the building now being used by the city is a good property in a good location. It is worth to its owner every dollar that is being paid for it and then some. In a short time, possibly before summer, the owner will demand more rent, and as property values increase in Carmel, it will be more and yet more. Why should the owner get from the city of Carmel lesser rent than he can get from a private individual? Is our city a pauper that it shall expect or demand charity? The landlord has been most considerate. We are granting him no favor in remaining there—we are receiving one instead. Even now he has hinted, not once but many times, that he would like a part if not all of the space, even that occupied by the engine and siren. How long will we kick ourselves from pillar to post? Are we going to beg landlords for their charity? Are we going to pay larger and larger rentals? Are we going to continue to be a cheap month-to-month tenant? Or are we going to handle the question as any far-sighted business man would handle it—finance ourselves for our own buildings and equipment?

Only One Solution: The only possible solution to this tangle is a bond issue. All public improvements are done by bond issues. There is no weak sentimentality in this; it is plain hard horse sense. If it hadn't been for bond issues, we'd still be crossing the plains in prairie schooners and burning candles instead of electric lights and we'd be getting our water from the town pump.

Bond Issue Inevitable: If we don't grasp the situation now, by next year there will be such a demand for it that another election will have to be held, involving more outlay in the expenses incident to it. Why not now, while the determination costs us nothing? Then, through the bond issue, posterity will bear its share of the expense; it will not all have to fall on the present population.

Already Found a Way Out: The writer of last week's article suggested that our city attorney would find us a better way to buy fire protection than by bonding. If we are not greatly mistaken, it was the city attorney himself who first suggested the bond issue for the proposed improvements and he has been among the most active of the proponents.

Bond Issue Stands Alone: There should be no confusion in the minds of voters about the bond election and the trustees election. It is quite true that they are to be held at the same time and on the same ballot, but John Smith, candidate for trustee, is obliged to carry out the will of the people, regardless of his own wishes. He has no alternative. If he is opposed to the bonds, and the people should decide for it, he would be obliged to carry the thing through. If he favors the bond issue, and the people should decide otherwise, the thing is settled and not all the John Smiths in the world can undo it.

Let's protect ourselves against fire; let's build a a town hall that will be a credit to the city—

LET'S ALL VOTE FOR BONDS!

Former Carmel Author Dies in the South

John Fleming Wilson, author, a former resident of Carmel, met a tragic death at Venice, Cal., last Sunday. While shaving, clad in a bath robe, the garment caught fire from a gas heater.

"Jack" Wilson was born in Erie, Pa., and was educated at Parson's College in Iowa, and at Princeton. He served as a teacher from 1900 to 1902 and engaged in newspaper work during the next three years. In 1906 he was editor of the San Francisco Argonaut. He was the author of a number of books and a contributor of short stories to many magazines. Among his best known works are "The Land Claimers" and "The Man Who Came Back." The latter story was dramatized and ran a year in New York, after which it toured the country.

Study of Wild Bird Life

Announcement is made that the sum of $30,000 has been placed in the hands of the National Association of Audubon Societies to aid teachers and pupils in the study of wild birds. Children will be taught to build bird boxes, feed birds in winter, to learn the name of the common birds in their communities, and will be instructed in the value of birds to mankind.

NOTABLE VISITORS WITHIN OUR GATES

Two artists of note, Vonnoh and wife, Bessie Potter Vonnoh, are staying at the Highlands. They are from New York and have an international reputation, he as a portrait painter and Mrs. Vonnoh as a sculptor. It was at the suggestion of the Silvas whom they recently met in Los Angeles, that they came to Carmel. They are also friends of William Ritschel. Mr. and Mrs. Cornelius Botke are giving a tea in their honor on Saturday afternoon, so that they may meet the members of the local art colony.

Mrs. W. B. Bonfils, who is better known as Annie Laurie of the Examiner, Mrs. Camille Solari and impresario Jessica Colbert, both of San Francisco, are to be week-end guests at the dancing camp of the Swett-Perry school.

Garnet Holme made Carmel quite a visit recently. He has returned to Los Angeles, but expects to be here next week to remain indefinitely.

"CAESAR AND CLEOPATRA" TO OPEN SEASON AT FOREST THEATER

and quagmires of the past. The task of stage direction has been delegated to three well-known and earnest workers in Carmel dramatics, Edward G. Kuster, acting as the direct representative of the board of directors, of which he is chairman, in association with Marian Boke and Hobart P. Glassell as co directors. The rest of the producing staff is not yet complete, but it will include Cornelius Botke, as director of scenic effects, decoration and settings, L. E Gottfried, in charge of mechanical effects and construction, and Ernest Schweninger business manager. The other positions, to be filled at the earliest possible moment, are as follows: Stage manager, master of properties, director of costume design, wardrobe mistress, publicity director, master of lighting, musical director and prompter. Each of the above, it is stated, will be asked to name his own assistants. and the whole will be formed into an orderly working organization appropriate to the unquestionable immensity of the task in hand.

The inadequate and dangerous old stage flooring will be removed and replaced, thoroughly oiled and weather proofed. So far as the funds will permit a modern lighting system will be installed, and the dressing rooms will be enlarged, all this under the direction of stage mechanician Gottfried.

Regarding "Caesar and Cleopatra," the associated directors have already organized, have divided up the work and have it well in hand. They authorize the statement that soon a public reading of the play will be given for the general benefit of those not familiar with it, but for the special benefit of persons who might be interested in trying out for one or more parts. Interesting and picturesque character "bits" will allow chances for doubling of roles. After the public reading try outs will be held for a reasonable period and applications will be received and handled in confidence.

Directorate and play committee have taken much time and trouble to select a play of merit, and now asks that the community back them up solidly, giving our summer visitors a dramatic spectacle worthy of the traditions of the Forest Theater.

To the People of Carmel

I'm going to be a candidate for City Trustee at the April 10th election. I believe in certain things for Carmel. I stand for the retention in their simplicity of the natural beauties of sea and shore, forest, hill and mountain; for the gradual unforced growth of Carmel as a town of homes, with encouragement for the artistic, literary and musical elements in the community; for low tax rates and few special assessments, so that brains, not money, may be the standard of our growth.

I am opposed to making Carmel another King City; to forcing population; to booms or boosters' campaigns; to going into debt for ostentation; to increasing taxes for show.

If you agree with me, vote for me. If you do not, vote against me. If elected, I'll do my best to get my beliefs into effective practice as the town's policy. If, or if not elected, I'll state where I stand squarely on every proposition that comes up.

Very sincerely,
PERRY NEWBERRY.

THREE IRISH PLAYS FOR IRISH DAY

The three famous Irish dramas to be produced by the Carmel Repertory Players on St. Patrick's Day will have the following casts:

I.—IN THE SHADOW OF THE GLEN

Dan Burke, farmer and herd, Herbert Glassell.
Nora, his wife, Marion Daniels.
Michael Dara, a young herd, Ray Ramsay.
A Tramp, Herbert Heron.

II.—THE WORKHOUSE WARD

Tarpey Miskell, a pauper, Argyll Campbell.
Mike McInerney, another, Edward Kuster.
Mrs. Donohoe, his sister, Charis Boke.

III.—CATHLEEN NI HOULIHAN

Peter Gillane, John Jordan.
Bridget, his wife, Rhoda Johnson.
Michael, their son, Gerald Morrow.
Patrick, his brother, Jack Jordan.
Delia Cahel, engaged to Michael, Margaret Clute.
The Poor Old Woman, Marion Boke.

The Poor Old Woman (Cathleen ni Houlihan) represents the Spirit of Ireland, and it is this personification of Erin that draws Michael from his home and the girl he loves to fight for the freedom of his country. The period is that of the rebellion of 1798, in which the Irish are aided by the French. The "four beautiful green fields" spoken of by the Poor Old Woman are the great provinces of Ulster, Leinster, Munster and Connaught.

Overture at 8:15; curtain at exactly 8:30. No tickets sold after that time, and no one coming after that time, even with tickets previously purchased, will be seated till the intermission following the first play. These rules will be strictly followed in justice to the audience as a whole and to the players on the stage.

All seats reserved and on sale at Cabbages and Kings, Ltd. Any tickets unsold at 7:30 may be had at the box office of the Manzanita Theater.

PROFESSIONAL CARDS

Dancing School Increasing

The Swett-Perry School is still enrolling new pupils. The latest is Walter Houle, who has just returned from a tour in Australia with the Annette Kellerman Co.

An addition has been made to the Cooke residence in order to accommodate the large number of pupils who wish to receive instruction.

To Monterey County Property Owners

On the 6th day of March, 1922, at 12 o'clock noon, an assessment will be levied on all property in the county (except property belonging elsewhere and only temporary here at that time) for the purpose of raising the revenue required to defray the expenses of the county for the coming fiscal year.

It is not possible for my deputies to see all property owners on that date, so I take this means of notifying them to make a note of their possessions at that time and to make their returns accordingly when a deputy assessor calls on them. If the deputy in making his rounds does not find the owner at home he will leave a blank statement, and it is the duty of property owner to make his returns to the assessor or his deputy within ten days. This must be done in order to avoid arbitrary assessments, which are always very costly to the taxpayer.

There is to be no change in the assessed value of real estate from the figures of last year, excepting of course any case where an adjustment is necessary to equalize value with corresponding property.

A schedule of values for assessing purposes is furnished to each deputy so that the assessment of livestock, produce and other personal property will be uniform throughout the county.

The following deputies will assist me in compiling the 1922 Assessment Roll:

OFFICE DEPUTIES

Marcel Lapierre
Miss Linda Anderson

FIELD DEPUTIES

Thomas Hudson, northern portion of county.
J. A. G. Adcock, Salinas and vicinity.
R. E. Gorham, Monterey and Seaside.
Ritter Holman, Pacific Grove, Pebble Beach, Carmel City.
B. E. Cahoon, Buena Vista, Marina, Jamesburg and Coast.
Wm. Weber, from Chualar to Greenfield.
Milton Besse and R. C. Dale, King City and vicinity and also the southeastern portion of the county.
Charles Hall, southwestern portion of the county.

Those entitled to a soldier's exemption will bear in mind that they must list their property and file their affidavit each year, or their property will be assessed the same as other property and this assessment cannot be cancelled after the Assessment Roll is closed. Those who have charge of Church property should also attend to their affidavits at once.

Any information desired as to assessments of property will be gladly extended from this office or by the deputy in your district.

WALTER R. TAVERNETTI,
Assessor in and for the County of Monterey. adv

Carmel Sanitary Board

Notice to Contractors

Inviting sealed proposals or bids for constructing of sewers in the Carmel Sanitary District, in Monterey County, State of California, in accordance with the plans and specifications therefor prepared by H. B. Fisher, Engineer of said Carmel Sanitary District, and now on file with the Secretary of the Sanitary Board of said Carmel Sanitary District.

Notice is hereby given that the Sanitary Board of the Carmel Sanitary District, in the County of Monterey, State of California, hereby invites sealed proposals or bids, and sealed proposals or bids will be received at the office of the Secretary of the Sanitary Board of said Carmel Sanitary District, in the plumbing establishment of W. T. Dummage on Dolores street near Ocean avenue in the said Carmel Sanitary District, up to and on the 14th day of March, A. D. 1922, at the hour of three o'clock P. M. of said day for the following described Sanitary work, to-wit:

The laying of sewers of first quality, salt-glazed, vitrified, clay sewer pipe of standard thickness, and well burned throughout its entire thickness, in said Carmel Sanitary District, said sewers to be in and along the following streets in Carmel-by-the-Sea, in said district, namely:

In the crossing of Ocean Avenue and Mission Street, connecting with the present manhole, and running north sixty-six (66) feet to property line. In the crossing of Ocean Avenue and San Carlos street, connecting with the present manhole and running north sixty-six (66) feet to property line. In the crossing of Ocean Avenue and Dolores street, connecting with the present manhole, and running North sixty-six (66) feet to property line. In the crossing of Ocean Avenue and Lincoln Street, connecting with the present manhole, and running North sixty-six (66) feet to the property line. In the crossing of Ocean Avenue and Monte Verde Street, connecting with the present manhole, and running North sixty-six (66) feet to the property line.

The size of sewer pipe in all of the above-mentioned crossings is to be 5-inch inside diameter.

For further details and particulars of said proposed work, reference is here made to the plans and specifications therefor prepared by H. B. Fisher, adopted by the Carmel Sanitary Board and filed with the Secretary thereof.

The contract to be entered into by the successful bidder to include the doing and furnishing of all work and materials shown on or called for by said plans and specifications whether here specifically or fully mentioned or not.

Such contract must provide that the work shall be done strictly in accordance with said plans and specifications and contain provisions making it comply with the terms of all statutes of the State of California in force at the time of making the said contract with reference to employment, hours and wages of labor.

The Carmel Sanitary Board reserves the right to reject any and all bids.

Published by order of the Carmel Sanitary Board of said Carmel Sanitary District.

LIFE SKETCH OF LATE EDWARD ABBBOT

The death of Edward A. Abbott here on February 14th was telegraphed to his old home in Chattanooga. The following article is from the Daily Times of that city:

News reached the city yesterday of the death, at an advanced age, of Edward A. Abbott. He died at Carmel-by-the-Sea, Cal., on Monday February 14. Mr. Abbott was for many years a prominent resident of Chattanooga, coming here in 1888 with his brother-in-law, W. P. Silva, and founding the business house of Silva & Abbott, at 734 Market street.

Born and reared in Maine, Mr. Abbott removed in early manhood to Indiana. At a later date he went to Savannah, where he owned and conducted a drug store up to the time of his removal to Chattanooga. He was married, during his residence in Savannah, to Miss Abby Beecher, who survives him.

A man of keen mind and broad culture, Mr. Abbott won and kept an enviable prominence in Chattanooga's affairs. He was pre-eminently an intellectual man—a close observer and student of his fellowmen; and he brought the wide knowledge he gained to the service of his community in its public affairs. He worked untiringly to make Chattanooga a better place in which to live; and his bright mind and unfailing determination accomplished much. Our public library felt his sustaining hand in its struggling days. He started the movement to curtail unnecessary noise. He was the founder of the City Beautiful club, which did so much to make Chattanooga attractive. He was the first citizen to move for public playgrounds and a comprehensive system of parks.

Mr. Abbott was a scholarly man. He collected a private library of generous proportions and of exceptional selection; and he used it. He loved nature. In his vigorous years he sought out the beauty spots around Chattanooga and his favorite recreation was to visit them on long walks, sometimes lasting all day. His ample home grounds were filled with flowers cultivated by his own hands. He loved to adorn his store with them; to carry them to others; to arouse an interest in their culture. He was the soul of hospitality. A wide circle of friends shared the attractions of his home. The charming evenings spent there will live with the hearts of these friends. His roof sheltered and fostered the kindlier emotions. His home radiated good cheer.

His health failing in recent years, Mr. Abbott sought to regain it in California. He established a new home at Carmel-by-the-Sea among the congenial surroundings of the colony of artists and writers. There he lived peacefully until the end.

FARMER PROGRAM

The farm centers of Monterey county have devoted their first meetings of the year to laying out programs of work. Since the life of these organizations depends greatly on what they accomplish it is vital that plans be made for doing work which will improve community conditions. The plans in Carmel valley embrace the following:

1. Home demonstration agent.
2. Horticultural demonstration — general problems.
3. Road improvement.
4. Septic tanks.
5. Livestock improvement.
6. Pest control.
7. Frost control.
8. Fire control.

ANNOUNCEMENT

Fellow Citizens of Monterey County:

I announce myself as a candidate for Sheriff at the coming election. I believe I can be elected and if elected will try to serve the people of this county to the best of my ability. I will carry out the duties of the office without distinction or prejudice. I believe in observance and obedience to the law irrespective of personal feelings. I have lived in Monterey county since 1887, and its interests are my interests. I will, if elected, strive for efficiency in the office of Sheriff and enforcement of law. I am familiar with the duties of Sheriff, having been connected with the present office for the past five years. I am not disloyal to the present incumbent in announcing myself, as I entered the present office with the promise and understanding that I would be a candidate at the coming election and that the present incumbent would not be a candidate.

W. A. OYER.

Vagrant Impressions of the Pine Nut

Notable Local Author Made Victim of Severe Attack of "Divine Afflatus"

Oh, Shades of Daniel Webster!

If anyone ever hears wild raucous sounds emanating from the Pine Cone Office, don't call the police. It's only two of us laughing at the other one and we occasionally overdo it. We each have a pet word which we use for emergencies. Bill Overstreet has a legal mind so he "whereas's" and "inasmuches" and "avers" everything. Bill Nye discovers the "exigencies" of every situation; and the Pine Nut is fairly dippy over the word "symposium."

Kit Overstreet, who handles the gate receipts, asks: "What's all that to do with the cash balance?"

Well, it hasn't much to do with the cash, but when you use some words, they make you feel like a million dollars, so even if we don't see their material form in the till, it is something at least to get the "divine afflatus."

Now, that the family skeleton has been brought to light let us inter him once more and go on to something else. Speaking of words brings me to thoughts of writing; then to literature; then to writers; and I am reminded of the fact that about once a day some one comes in with an inquiry as to the relative standing of the authors in this part of the country. We feel that there can be no doubt that the laurels should fall on Harry Leon Wilson and we are giving below an article which appeared recently in the Publishers' Auxiliary, which should prove of decided interest to our readers.

It was Harry Leon Wilson who first began to give the eastern world authentic portraits of the new type of westerner, like in some respects and yet so different from the picturesque individual portrayed by Bret Harte and others; an evolution from the strange blending of cavalier and adventure largely from the South, the hardy frontiersman and the later strains of immigrant mid-western farmer and business man who filled up the settlements beyond the Missouri. His types, true as they are and interesting from a standpoint of ethnology, were not presented with any scientific object in mind, but to make purely delightful and wholly refreshing characters for novels.

In "The Spenders," "Ruggles of Red Gap" and others, with one or two strokes of graphic realism he has brought out some pictures that are more than photographic in their delineations. For instance: One place in "The Spenders" he has a character from Butte endeavoring to get a check cashed in Portland. The proceedings result in the Oregon bank's wiring to Butte for a description of the party. The Montana bank wires back, "Tall man wearing a Prince Albert coat and drunk." Anyone familiar with the two cities, especially one who has tried to cash a check in Portland, has a perfect mental picture of the incident. No name was mentioned or even hinted at, yet every person west of North Platte who read that story, knew that the prototype of Mr. Wilson's character was a certain brilliant promoter known from Alberta to the Mexican border, who was inclined to be convivial when away from home.

Incidentally, Mr. Wilson's stories have put Butte, Spokane, Walla Walla and other cities of the Northwest on the map, quite as effectively, perhaps more so, than special publicity efforts put forth by those places. The astonishing growth of Butte during the past twenty years may, possibly, in large measure, be due to the influence of "The Spenders;" for whoever read that story with its tales of riches suddenly acquired and amazing prodigality, without a desire to live there? Who that has read about Red Gap doesn't wish he lived in Spokane or Walla Walla where he could meet Cousin Egbert and "Ma" Pettingill and put his feet under the table at Ruggles' Restauraw? Great stuff! those tales.

Harry Leon Wilson, born in Oregon, Ill., in 1867, was the editor of Puck as early at 1896. He wrote a few stories which attracted attention, and in 1902, after "The Spenders" was published, he was the talk of the country. Next he wrote "The Lions of the Lord," "The Seeker," "The Boss of Little Arcady" and "Ewing's Lady," good stories which, however, did not make a pronounced bulls-eye. Then he and Booth Tarkington collaborated on a play, "The Man from Home," a big hit. Followed, "Bunker Bean," a very successful story, and then "Ruggles of Red Gap," published in 1915, one of the greatest humor and character stories in American literature.

"Somewhere in Red Gap," appeared in 1916, since which time Mr. Wilson's output has been principally short stories for the writing of which he probably pulls down as much per word as is paid to any author in the United States. Recently he journeyed to Hawaii where it is said he proposes to take an extended vacation. Having covered a portion of the trail of Robert Louis Stevenson, maybe it will result in new inspiration and new enrichment of the altogether too meagre good fiction of the day.

Pine Needles

Mrs. J. P. Wilcox and her son and grand-son are here from Chicago. They plan to remain in Carmel some time.

After a stay of six weeks in Carmel Mr. and Mrs. Clarence Shepard and son have departed for their home in Kansas City, Mo.

Mrs. David Alberto has returned from a week's absence in San Francisco and Oakland, where she visited with relatives and friends.

The Beardsleys and Miss Allen are sailing from Honolulu for home today. They recently spent twenty days in the vicinity of the volcano.

Albert E. Warth, Salinas attorney, has announced his candidacy for the office of district attorney of this county. Walter E. Norris, present incumbent, will not be a candidate.

Mr. and Mrs. D. W. W. Johnson, accompanied by Evan R. Mosher, departed for Los Angeles yesterday in the Johnson's new sedan. They are to be away about ten days.

The Little Theater committee have arranged for another production about the end of this month, at which time there will be given a most interesting play by a writer of international reputation.

The latest candidates to enter the trustee free-for-all are Thomas L. Edler, well-known grocer, and Perry Newberry, author, builder, playwright and producer, and Miss Helen Parkes.

Practically every owner of a lot in Carmel has received postcard notice of the amount due on the Ocean avenue improvement assessment. Payment is due on or before the 23rd of this month.

Several of our citizenesses whose friends are active in endeavors to place their names on the ballot for city trustee, have called at the Pine Cone office to emphatically disclaim any desire to hold public office.

The following is clipped from the March 5th issue of the San Francisco Chronicle: "Carmel has been chosen as the scene of the next semi-annual convention of the California Advertising Service Association, to be held March 19, 20 and 21."

If our paper is better than usual this week it is due to Mason Schlosser, who covered himself with glory and his gray spring suit with grease in adjusting the mechanism of the press. We take this method of expressing our appreciation to Mason for his efforts in behalf of the reading public.

Major Robert A. Roos visited the Peninsula cities last week-end in connection with the proposed military training camp planned for July and August. He met with citizen committees of Carmel, Pacific Grove and Monterey and was assured that the homes on the Peninsula would extend a hearty welcome to the men and their families.

The Princes are the proud owners of a new Chevrolet. Miss Louise was fortunate enough to win ten dollars at the Monterey movies, and she suggested to brother David that they purchase a new car with their combined capital. David, having the promoter spirit, was willing to tackle the proposition and the deal was quickly consumated. Mr. and Mrs. Prince received a very pleasant surprise when the kids drove up to the family roof tree with a triumphant flourish and the new jazz wagon.

A count of the money in the county treasury shows $1758.38 in the bond fund and $477.95 in the expense fund of the Carmel Sanitary District.

Mother White celebrated the 91st anniversary of her birth last Friday. Her daughter and loving friends made the occasion a memorable one.

Due to the precautious and care of the teachers, the absences of pupils in the local public school, because of sickness, have been kept to a minimum.

Noah Whitney motored to Los Angeles last Thursday morning. He had as guest passenger Charles T. Hecker. They will be home this week.

Mrs. Phil K. Gordon is among the recent arrivals in Pasadena and is domiciled at the Huntington. She may bring back a new one-act play for the Little Theater.

Mrs. M. A. Rohann and daughters, Emma and Alice, are here from Minneapolis. They are living in the Sandpiper cottage and regard Carmel as the most beautiful spot in the West. The ladies plan to spend some time here and then leave for San Francisco and other northern cities.

Leonard W. Perry has sold to Mrs. Helen W. Durney his Ocean avenue building, to which additions are contemplated. Mr. Perry, however, is not severing his connection with the Carmel Investment Co. He is planning a trip to Canada in the near future, with the intention of closing out his business affairs there, and will probably build on his property adjoining the Curtis place, on his return to Carmel.

Sweet Singer of Ireland Coming to Monterey

"Ragged Robin," the mystical Irish comedy-drama, to be presented at the Monterey Theatre on Friday night, March 17, is Chauncey Olcott's current offering, in which he is most happy, for the role affords him ample scope for his ability as an actor, and opportunities aplenty to sing those delightful songs of heart and humor, without which no Olcott play would be complete. He is a great entertainer.

Jackie Coogan Shows at the Strand Theater

Who wouldn't take a trip over the hill with the kiddies to see this wonderful little boy!

NEW PAVING CONSIDERED

The trustees held an uneventful meeting last Tuesday evening.

Much discussion regarding the paving of Ninth, Twelfth and San Antonio avenues resulted in the decision to make tentative plans for having the work done by assessment.

The request of Dr. D. T. Macdougal for the improvement of Twelfth avenue, from the east side of San Carlos to the west side of Junipero, was complied with and will be included in the plan for paving Twelfth avenue.

After allowing regular bills the meeting adjourned till March 21.
